Jay Lee
+33 7 62 32 68 33
iyongjae6@gmail.com
yongjailee.netlify.app

To Hiring Committee,
OECD

October 21, 2026

Sub: Application for Junior Policy Analyst Position.

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Junior Policy Analyst position at the OECD. With a background in economics and experience in data analysis, database work, and policy-oriented research, I am eager to contribute to your team's work on evidence-based analysis and reporting.

As reflected in my resume, I have developed relevant experience at the OECD through work on data collection, validations, calculations, and reporting for delegate submissions. I am motivated to apply my research, data management, and analytical skills to support high-quality databases, clear policy insights, and effective collaboration in an international environment.

As a prospective employee, I can immediately bring the following strengths to your team:

- Strong analytical skills: As a Research Assistant, I analyzed datasets and reviewed academic literature for major projects in politics and education. I managed data using SQL and Excel, collected information through Python-based web scraping from diverse online sources, and synthesized quantitative evidence and qualitative research into concise summary reports. By working efficiently under time constraints, I helped shorten project timelines by two months when rapid delivery was required.
- Ability to work independently and collaboratively: In my role as a Data Analyst at the Institute for International Economic Studies, I independently analyzed data from 15,000 Swedish establishments using advanced statistical methods to strengthen research quality. At the same time, I worked closely with research teams to ensure data accuracy and consistency through careful collection and cleaning processes. By developing efficient solutions to data management challenges, I contributed to more reliable analyses, stronger insights, and improved project outcomes.

While my resume provides an overview of my background, I would welcome the opportunity to discuss in greater detail how my experience and motivation can support the OECD's analytical and reporting work. I would be honored to contribute to the careful management of data and the preparation of policy-relevant outputs.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the possibility of speaking with you further about this opportunity.

Sincerely,

Jay Lee